Project Description

This project requires compilation of lists identifying available coastal information. The lists are intended to support improved risk management of assets and values in the coastal zone of the Northern Agricultural Region, especially the Batavia Coast Region between Port Denison and Kalbarri. The tasks are to:

- (a) Provide separate lists of textual and digital information (metadata), including publicly available documents and internal government material.
- (b) Establish the relevance and applicability of the information to: (i) a first-order assessment of coastal hazards and risks based on the NCCOE (2004) framework approach; and (ii) natural resource management of the coast including the State Waters.
- (c) Annotate the information listed according to its source, custodianship, availability and relevance to points (i) and (ii) as well as geographic context in terms of the Coastal sediment compartments identified by the Batavia Coast Planning Group (2000) for the Batavia Coast Region.
- (d) Determine any gaps and shortcomings in the information available that would limit its application to assessment of coastal hazards and risks relevant to management of the natural resources of the region.
- (e) Recommend information required to address the gaps and shortcomings identified, and;
- (f) Engaging the intended end users of the above information to identify their information needs: including the desired output and format/platform.
