Project Description

A range of threats have been identified in the NACC NRM Strategy that will have significant impact on biodiversity across the Northern Agricultural Region. Primarily the threats addressed in this project are invasive species, altered fire regimes and Phytophthora disease. The impacts of these threats will be ameliorated through a process of assessment planning and on ground actions where appropriate. Liaison with a range of land managers will be a primary focus to ensure integrated activities. Communication of best practice management will also be undertaken.
